

Morocco's Declaration

The second national consultation about development effectiveness Morocco.

Development Effectiveness Morocco

In perspective of the 4th of FNH's discussion in Busan (South Korea) about aid effectiveness that will take place in the 29th 30th 31th -1er December 2011 , a second national consultation on CSOs development effectiveness has been organized the 21th and the 22th October in Rabat (Morocco) by the Moroccan working group composed of Espace Associatif and democratic league of the Rights of the Woman and the 3rd Millennium association .

The first day of consultation has been an occasion to involve civil society organizations in the process of mobilization and advocacy about actual challenges of international agenda on aid effectiveness and challenges related to the effectiveness of development policies centered on the realization of human rights, the second day of consultation has known the participation of institutional actors, stakeholder, donors and partners.

At the end of two days of consultation and discussion with representatives of government and technical and financial partners and after reviewing the evolution of the international process on aid effectiveness since Monterrey 2002, civil society representatives declare and demand:

1) Evaluation of Accra's action plan commitments of and Paris Declaration and their implementation

1. - CSOs has noticed the absence of an integrated strategy of "fight against poverty" in Morocco, hence difficulty to evaluate the process of implementation of Paris's Declaration and Accra Action plan by Moroccan authorities.
2. - CSOs demand their implication in the process of elaboration, follow up and assessment of strategies.
3. - Necessity to Involve CSOs in the elaboration of strategies by different donors which answers the concept of ownership principle as stated in Paris Declaration.
4. -Moroccan CSOs call the Moroccan government to adopt Istanbul's principles.

2) Strengthening development effectiveness policies based on right-based approach and right to development.

5. -The elaboration of operational and efficient mechanisms to implement right-based approach in the monitoring and evaluations in the elaboration of public policies.
6. -an effective involvement of CSOs in the local and regional programs of development is considered as important for development

7. -Institutionalization, within the regional and local councils of participative mechanisms and cooperation favoring the involvement of CSOs in elaboration and monitoring of programs of development.

3) Support of CSOs as independent and autonomous actors in development projects -commitment to create an enabling environment for CSOs intervention.

8. - give to CSOs a freedom of action and guarantee a favorable environment in order to achieve their projects of development.
9. - CSOs RIGHT to public financing and the instauration of mechanisms of monitoring and control of these allocated funds.
10. -Consider CSOs as independent development actors enjoying full rights.

4) Support the establishment of a structure of cooperation for a just and sustainable development

11. - enlargement of the worldwide frame of collaboration for development by inserting United Nations' system in the monitoring of process(instead of OECD) going to a new meaning of partnership for democratic development.
12. -During the 4th FHN of Busan, actors are called to adopt the right of development instead of millennium development goals considered as very minimalist.
